

Portrait of a Graduate

JEDI Students are...

Accountable

Accountable students take ownership of their actions, responsibilities, and impact on others. They manage their time effectively, meet deadlines, and follow through on commitments with integrity. They use tools and information responsibly, giving credit where it's due, and make choices that reflect honesty and ethical decision-making.

Adaptable

Adaptable students respond to change with flexibility, resilience, and a positive mindset. They navigate challenges by adjusting their thinking, behavior, and approach while remaining focused on solutions.

Communicators

Communicators express ideas clearly and confidently in a variety of formats while actively listening to others. They advocate for themselves and others by using respectful, purposeful communication that supports understanding. They adjust how they communicate depending on their audience and the method of communication.

Critical Thinkers

Critical Thinkers analyze information from multiple sources, question assumptions, and make reasoned decisions. They approach problems with curiosity, logic, and a willingness to explore different perspectives. They evaluate the credibility, relevance, and impact of information in today's world.

Empathetic Collaborators

Empathetic Collaborators build strong, respectful relationships by actively listening, valuing multiple perspectives, and working toward shared goals. They contribute to positive group dynamics with compassion, kindness, flexibility, and a commitment to everyone's success.

Goal Oriented

Goal-Oriented students set meaningful goals and pursue them with focus, persistence, and a clear plan. They monitor their progress, reflect on results, learn from challenges, and persevere.
